Rhode Island Diploma System All Rhode Island Students Ready for Performance assessments are College, Careers, and real-life experiences that require cross-cutting skills including Success in Life communication, problem solving, creativity, and teamwork Performance-Based Assessment Students have multiple opportunities to master skills and complete their performancebased assessment Coursework The state assessment requires a demonstration of the basic Coursework requires that students literacy and numeracy skills successfully complete at least 20 courses necessary for success in core content areas including math, science, technology, reading, social Students have multiple studies, and the arts opportunities to retake the test, State Assessment are given full credit for Students have the opportunity to improvement, and can substitute accelerate learning and make up missing

courses

Rhode Island Goal: By 2015, 85% of all Rhode Island students will graduate with a high school diploma or its equivalent ready for entry into college or post-secondary education and training programs.

alternative assessments